Kerr Regional History Center to re-open Feb. 16

Kerrville, Texas (Feb. 10, 2020) - The Kerr Regional History Center will resume in-person operations on Tuesday, Feb. 16 at 10 a.m. Limited computers will be available to allow for social distancing and masks will be required.

The KRHC is open Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The KRHC serves as a repository for historical and genealogical collections, and as a research center for the residents of the City of Kerrville and the Texas Hill Country. Staff and volunteers are available to assist visitors in locating print and electronic resources to aid their research. Some of the resources available include:

- Local newspaper records
- Kerrville Tivy yearbook collection
- Kerrville city directories

- Kerr County Oral History Project collection
- Access to genealogical research databases including Ancestry.com and Newspaper Archive

For more information, contact the library reference desk at (830) 258-1274, or visit the city's website at www.kerrvilletx.gov.
