Bat exhibit begins Saturday at the Kerr Regional History Center

Kerrville, Texas (Aug. 10, 2021) – Bats are a vital part of a healthy ecosystem and play a critical role in pest consumption, plant pollination, and seed dispersal. Join us at the Kerr Regional History Center this Saturday, Aug. 14 at 10:30 a.m. for an informative presentation on “Bats: Habits and Habitats” with Nyta Brown, superintendent of Old Tunnel State Park.

Brown has served as the superintendent of Old Tunnel State Park since 2005 and spends much of her time educating children and adults on the importance of bats for biodiversity. When she is not presenting, Brown conducts surveys and studies on bats throughout Texas.

After the presentation, stay and check out our display on bats in the exhibit area of the History Center. Our bat exhibit will run from Aug. 14 through Sept. 24.
