Library to host Native Plant Society of Texas program Saturday

Kerrville, Texas (June 5, 2023) – The Butt-Holdsworth Memorial Library is pleased to invite the public to a special program on landscaping at home in collaboration with the Native Plant Society of Texas. Taking place on Saturday, June 10 at 10:30 a.m. in the library's meeting room, this informative session aims to inspire and educate individuals about the potential of their landscapes to support pollinators, conserve water, and sequester carbon.

Our landscapes hold immense potential beyond their aesthetic appeal; they can serve as vital life support systems for pollinators, birds, and other wildlife while also helping to manage our precious water resources. Led by member of the Native Plant Society of Texas Becky Leal, attendees will gain valuable insights into cultivating their landscapes' superpowers and attracting more pollinators. Through this engaging presentation, participants will learn practical techniques, strategies, and native plant selections to enhance the ecological value of their gardens.

Whether you have a small yard or a sprawling estate, this program promises to equip attendees with the knowledge and inspiration to create landscapes that are not only visually pleasing but also environmentally sustainable.

The program is open to the public and free of charge. For further details, please contact the library's reference desk at (830) 258-1274 or visit the city's website at www.kerrvilletx.gov
